O'Brien, the well-known real estate man of Reno, who accompanied them on a vacation tour of the inaccessible mountains, told Tuesday of this one harrowing experience and related other stories of successful bear and deer hunts, says the Reno Journal.

O'Brien, Shea, Gilchrist and Harvey Kidd, who came out from Walden, New York, made the trip into southern Oregon. They left here their health and enjoying the finest shooting.

The chase of a deer led Gilchrist and Shea into the forest and before they had gone far from camp they realized the return would be difficult. They wandered for hours but were unable to encounter anyone.

Having few matches and no warm clothing the cold nights added to their discomfort while their only food was obtained when Shea shot a salmon with one of their thirteen RICKEY CASE TO rounds of ammunition.

They traveled about seventy miles on foot through the underbrush before they located the camp of their

"Several days - ago a purported telegram was published in the Reno Journal, at Reno, stating that Senator Frank Brossemer, Republican sen. ed from a trip to California. ator from Eureka county and chairman of his party there had announced that he was a supporter of George Bartlett for congress. The Reno paper published it and then the publicity committee of the Democracy saw that the item was circulated throughout the state. Investigation has proved the story utterly false and without foundation. Mr. Brosseonel Maxson and believes that Nevada should send a man to congress to support and assist William H. Taft in carrying out the policies inaugurated by President Roosevelt.

"As soon as Mr. Brossemer saw the story in the Journal he immediately telegraphed that paper of the absolute falsity of the story.
